Foreword

Departmental Performance Reports are part of the Estimates family of documents. Estimates documents support appropriation acts, which specify the amounts and broad purposes for which funds can be spent by the government. The Estimates document family has three parts.

Part I (Government Expenditure Plan) provides an overview of federal spending.

Part II (Main Estimates) lists the financial resources required by individual departments, agencies and Crown corporations for the upcoming fiscal year.

Part III (Departmental Expenditure Plans) consists of two documents. Reports on Plans and Priorities (RPPs) are expenditure plans for each appropriated department and agency (excluding Crown corporations). They describe departmental priorities, strategic outcomes, programs, expected results and associated resource requirements, covering a three-year period beginning with the year indicated in the title of the report. Departmental Performance Reports (DPRs) are individual department and agency accounts of actual performance, for the most recently completed fiscal year, against the plans, priorities and expected results set out in their respective RPPs. DPRs inform parliamentarians and Canadians of the results achieved by government organizations for Canadians.

Additionally, Supplementary Estimates documents present information on spending requirements that were either not sufficiently developed in time for inclusion in the Main Estimates or were subsequently refined to account for developments in particular programs and services.

The financial information in DPRs is drawn directly from authorities presented in the Main Estimates and the planned spending information in RPPs. The financial information in DPRs is also consistent with information in the Public Accounts of Canada. The Public Accounts of Canada include the Government of Canada Consolidated Statement of Financial Position, the Consolidated Statement of Operations and Accumulated Deficit, the Consolidated Statement of Change in Net Debt, and the Consolidated Statement of Cash Flow, as well as details of financial operations segregated by ministerial portfolio for a given fiscal year. For the DPR, two types of financial information are drawn from the Public Accounts of Canada: authorities available for use by an appropriated organization for the fiscal year, and authorities used for that same fiscal year. The latter corresponds to actual spending as presented in the DPR.

The Treasury Board Policy on Management, Resources and Results Structures further strengthens the alignment of the performance information presented in DPRs, other Estimates documents and the Public Accounts of Canada. The policy establishes the Program Alignment Architecture of appropriated organizations as the structure against which financial and non-financial performance information is provided for Estimates and parliamentary reporting. The same reporting structure applies irrespective of whether the organization is reporting in the Main Estimates, the RPP, the DPR or the Public Accounts of Canada.

A number of changes have been made to DPRs for 2013–14 to better support decisions on appropriations. Where applicable, DPRs now provide financial, human resources and performance information in Section II at the lowest level of the organization’s Program Alignment Architecture.

In addition, the DPR’s format and terminology have been revised to provide greater clarity, consistency and a strengthened emphasis on Estimates and Public Accounts information. As well, departmental reporting on the Federal Sustainable Development Strategy has been consolidated into a new supplementary information table posted on departmental websites. This new table brings together all of the components of the Departmental Sustainable Development Strategy formerly presented in DPRs and on departmental websites, including reporting on the Greening of Government Operations and Strategic Environmental Assessments. Section III of the report provides a link to the new table on the organization’s website. Finally, definitions of terminology are now provided in an appendix.

Commissioner's Message

As the Commissioner for Federal Judicial Affairs, I am pleased to present the Office's Departmental Performance Report for 2013-2014. The Office of the Commissioner for Federal Judicial Affairs Canada was created in 1978 under the Judges Act to provide support and services to the federal judiciary and promote the independence of the judiciary. An independent and effective judiciary is fundamental to our system of justice and I am proud of the role our Office plays in supporting that goal.

During the past year our Office continued to provide high quality services to 1,115 federally appointed judges, as well as close to 910 pensioners and survivors. We provided support and administrative services to the Canadian Judicial Council and its committees. At the request of the Minister of Justice we provided administrative support to the judicial appointments process and the Supreme Court of Canada appointments process.

The following pages describe the activities undertaken in 2013-2014 in furtherance of our mandate and particular steps that we have taken to improve and enhance the services we provide. These include a comprehensive review of all our services and business processes, an assessment of the controls in place, and ongoing improvements to our information management and supporting technology.

I wish to thank all of our staff for their excellent work during the year. Our success depends upon their dedication and professionalism.

William A. Brooks
Commissioner

Risk Analysis

Key Risks

Risk	Risk Response Strategy	Link to Program Alignment Architecture
Maintaining a high level of support and services to judges in a manner that supports and promotes judicial independence in the context of government-wide centralization of common services and shared services.	The Judges Act establishes a regime of salaries, allowances and annuities unique to federally appointed judges and which is administered by the Office of the Commissioner for Federal Judicial Affairs. The ongoing government wide initiative to centralise common services and shared services has resulted in consideration of a transfer from FJA to a common service agency some of the administration of these core services. Discussions are ongoing with central agencies to explain the mandate of FJA and how this initiative may impact judicial independence as well as service levels to judges.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>▪ An independent and efficient federal judiciary</li> <li>▪ Payments pursuant to the Judges Act</li> </ul>
Errors (e.g., payments, vacancies lists, procurement).	Challenges of administering the unique regime in the Judges Act include ensuring a correct interpretation of the Act and consistency and accuracy in a high volume of transactions environment. Current strategies to minimize risk are 100% verification of transactions, use of technology to assist in processing payments, staff training, and regular reviews of internal controls.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>▪ An independent and efficient federal judiciary</li> <li>▪ Payments pursuant to the Judges Act</li> <li>▪ Internal services</li> </ul>
Renewal of legacy systems being phased out.	Once pay and pension modernization are completed government-wide, PWGSC will no longer be able to support the Judges Annuitant System. PWGSC earmarked funding for developmental costs towards a new system, and will continue to support FJA until a new solution is finalized.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>▪ An independent and efficient federal judiciary</li> <li>▪ Payments pursuant to the Judges Act</li> </ul>

The Government has initiatives in place for pay modernization, consolidation of pay services, and pension modernization. These initiatives include consideration of a proposal that FJA transfer pay and pension administration for judges to common service agencies. Consideration of such a proposal must take into account the primary mission of FJA to protect the independence of the federal judiciary in order to maintain the confidence of Canadians in our judicial system. FJA is therefore pursuing a range of initiatives to ensure the renewal of legacy systems and alignment with government-wide processes and systems, both in terms of services provided to judges as well as controls to ensure the proper application of policies and rules governing the payment of judges' salaries, allowances, benefits and annuities.

The actual spending for the department shows a continual increase over the reporting periods resulting from the annual increase in judges' salaries based on the Industrial Aggregate as provided for in the Judges Act as well as an increase in the number of judges appointed to the bench and the number of pensioners receiving benefits under the Judges Act.

Departmental Spending Trend

Total spending is closely aligned with the Main Estimates and planned spending for 2013-14. The $3.7 million variance between the total planned and actual spending is mainly attributed to an overall $2.8 million increase in statutory expenditures for judges' salaries, the increased number of judicial appointments and the increased number of pensioners. An additional $0.7 million represents an increase to FJA's operating expenses primarily due to legal obligations.

Performance Analysis and Lessons Learned

The secretariat, comprised of 10 employees, provides support to the Canadian Judicial Council in keeping with its mandate to foster the better administration of justice in Canada in terms of efficiency, uniformity, accountability and judicial conduct. The Chairpersons of the various committees continue to be very satisfied with the level of support they receive.

During the course of the fiscal year, Council's Committees, Sub-committees and Working Groups met on a regular basis to undertake their work in line with the Council's mandate. For example, to ensure that Council keeps pace with the public's evolving expectations of fairness, efficiency and transparency in the process, the Council - via the Judicial Conduct Committee - initiated a review of the complaints process against federally-appointed judges. As part of this review, the Council launched a public web-based consultation to seek the input of Canadians about the process of review of complaints. This consultation is seeking input on all aspects of the process, from the front-end screening through to the public inquiry stage.

The Canadian Judicial Council plays a pivotal role in ensuring that judges maintain the highest standards of conduct, which is essential to maintaining the rule of law and public confidence in the administration of justice. The complexity of complaints made against the federally appointed judges has been steadily increasing. During 2013-2014, the CJC received 158 complaints, and 138 complaints were closed. At year end, 61 complaints were under review, compared to 44 at the end of the previous fiscal year.

Performance Analysis and Lessons Learned

FJA continued to provide a high level of service to clients in terms of core services such as payment of judges’ salaries, allowances and annuities. A Client Satisfaction Survey of judges, completed in 2011, assessed the opinions of judges regarding the satisfaction of judges with services provided by FJA. The survey also collected performance assessments of each FJA sub-program.

The 2011 Survey showed a 91% satisfaction level. The judges were generally very satisfied with FJA services as satisfaction scores for each service were in the 80% or higher range. Three areas identified as important to achieving continuous improvement were: identifying points of contact, streamlining processes and timeliness of responses.

FJA conducted a number of process reviews to identify opportunities to streamline processes and improve services. These include:

- Judges' Supplementary Retirement Benefit Accounts (SRBA)
- Vote Netting Authority
- Procure to Pay
- Government Acquisition cards
- Managing the Delegation of Financial Authorities

FJA has also implemented follow-up actions related to:

- Salary administration for payments pursuant to the Judges Act
- Pension administration for payments pursuant to the Judges Act

Performance Analysis and Lessons Learned

The scope of this service includes compensation and pension administration services for 1,115 judges and 910 pensioners and survivors. FJA administers a budget in excess of $500 million annually which pays for judges' salaries, allowances and annuities, relocation and travel expenses; and reviews and processes some 20,000 expense claims per year.

FJA continues to meet service standards with respect to the range of services provided through the lifecycle of a federal judge position, for example, preparing Order-in-Council submissions upon initial appointment (within 5 days); bringing a judge "on board" (within 1 month of appointment); responding to benefits inquiries from judges (within 2 days); processing retirement documentation (within 1 month); issuing a pension in the event of death (within 3 months). With some exceptions, expense claims are processed within a 10 day standard; the majority of claims are processed under 5 days.

JUDICOM provides judges with email, a secure and restricted communication system, and a virtual library. Federally appointed judges are able to collaborate effectively, sharing information through JUDICOM. About three-quarters of judges (76%) are satisfied with the JUDICOM system; based on the 2011 Client Satisfaction Survey. 75% of judges considered JUDICOM to be an important tool and 87% used the system monthly. The JUDICOM system remained functional more than 99% of the time. A Service Desk provided timely and professional services.

FJA provides judges with support, assistance and advice with respect to their involvement in international work and projects. During 2013-2014, FJA arranged for the participation of judges in international projects in Jamaica and Ukraine funded by the Canadian International Development Agency (CIDA) and the Department of Foreign Affairs and International Trade Canada (DFAIT). FJA also responded to international requests from foreign organizations for access to Canadian judicial expertise and courts, and provided support and assistance to the Superior Courts in responding to and managing these requests. The cost of managing the implementation of international cooperation projects has been met through cost recovery from other funding agencies (primarily the former Canadian International Development Agency).

FJA has undertaken a number of initiatives to improve the efficiency of the services to judges:

- FJA is exploring options for Judges and pensioners pay stub printing to reduce overhead costs and increase efficiencies.
- Judges can now view the balances of their conference allowances online on demand through a self-serve module in JUDICOM. This continues to improve service to judges, reduces calls and replaces the need for monthly paper mail-outs.
- The personnel module in the Phoenix application used for pay and pension and for appointments continues to be updated in order to eliminate double entry and increase efficiencies and accuracy of data.
- The financial module in the Phoenix application used for expense claim processing continues to be upgraded to provide timely and accurate financial data to judges.

Sub-Program 1.3.2: Judges Language Training

Description

Provide language training services in both official languages to federally appointed judges.

Budgetary Financial Resources (dollars)

Performance Results

Expected Results	Performance Indicators	Targets	Actual Results
Federally appointed judges have access to timely, high-quality, and cost effective language training services.	Number of days for judge to complete registration, and be assessed and assigned a tutor.	30 days	100% target achieved.
	Satisfaction with language training (based on FJA Client Satisfaction Survey ).	90% of judges satisfied.	In 2011, 88% of Judges said they were satisfied with the language training services (87% in 2008).

Performance Analysis and Lessons Learned

FJA provided language training to judges through its varied curriculum catering to the learners' proficiency level goals in the second Official language. Participation rates in FJA's course offerings continued at a sustainable level with an average new intake of 30 judges per year. Through individual, immersion, or intensive training sessions, participants have enhanced their ability to function in both official languages at varied skill levels and also perfect their knowledge of legal terminology. An increasing number of judges have benefited from FJA language learning opportunities, enabling them to preside in court, understand testimony, read legal texts, write decisions, participate in legal conferences and conduct presentations in their second official language. Satisfaction rates of 88% have been achieved. FJA has pursued various curriculum development projects as well as enhanced distance learning in order to maintain its provision of accessible, high quality language training to participating judges nationwide.

Language training	2011-2012	2012-2013	2013-2014

Training hours in private courses	6795	7288	7094
Language training products developed	16	24	36
Language assessments	30	28	30

FJA made significant progress in acquiring, accessing and managing qualified language and legal terminology specialists for its program delivery. In the last year, language training was delivered at an average cost of $50 per hour, well within industry standards. Since the Canada School of Public Service decision to cease direct language training services, FJA is now heavily involved in the complex management of a national network of specialists and alternative service providers. This represents additional challenges and significantly increases FJA workload in order to ensure a continuous supply and quality assurance of language training specialists as well as developing curriculum and new courses while remaining efficient and cost effective.

Performance Analysis and Lessons Learned

The Federal Courts Reports brings significant new decisions to the profession’s attention, facilitates legal research by including quality value-added features, and ensures a permanent record of important decisions while making the best use of new technologies and keeping up with the changing demands of the legal and judicial communities and the general public. Decisions, which are made available in print and on the Internet, undergo a thorough editorial process, including translation accuracy confirmation.

The focus continued to be on modernizing the publication process and achieving efficiencies through, inter alia, greater electronic collaboration, in-house use of desktop publishing tools, publishing decisions on the web site before their reproduction in final form in the print version, and ongoing improvements to the Web product. Measures have also been put in place to allow for a return to a more timely publication.

FCR's decision to make its own author's alterations continued to pay dividends throughout the year, resulting in savings of time and money.

The elaboration of a business plan also resulted in a clearer picture for FCR of its objectives and what its priorities should be. This renewed focus will foster further improvements and cost reductions. One such improvement was the elimination of statutory amendments in the Reports. This value-added feature was deemed no longer necessary in light of technological improvements. Other efficiencies were also achieved. For example, with respect to the preparations of documents for Web publication, macros were developed to assist in completing mundane tasks, thus speeding up the publication process.

Sub-Program 1.3.4: Judicial Appointments Secretariat

Performance Analysis and Lessons Learned

The judicial appointments process contributes to an independent judiciary by ensuring an effective and fair candidate assessment process. The Judicial Appointments Secretariat administers, on behalf of the Minister of Justice, 17 Advisory Committees across Canada, comprised of 133 members in total, who evaluated 321 candidate applications for federal judicial appointments in the year ending October 31, 2013. Over 95% of applications received by FJA (495 applications in total during 2012-2013) are screened and ready for review by committee within three months.

The Minister of Justice has also requested that FJA provide administrative support to and coordinate the process for the appointment of judges to fill vacancies at the Supreme Court of Canada. This is being done from current FJA financial resources.

Following a process review carried out in 2011, FJA has been assessing options to automate the current judicial appointments process.

FJA provides support and funding to the Commission, including secretariat support as well as data and statistics to Commission members.

The next Commission will be convened during fiscal year 2015-2016.

Performance Analysis and Lessons Learned

FJA continued to meet the expectations of managers and employees with respect to human resources, financial management, procurement, information technology and other administrative services. The main improvement areas pursued during 2013-14 are noted below.

Information management. FJA continues implementation of the Management Action Plan on the Office of the Comptroller General Horizontal Audit on Electronic Record Keeping. Specific actions were deferred due to shifting priorities and lack of resources.

Implementation of policy on internal controls. During 2013-2014, the documentation of business processes and design effectiveness testing for the Judges' Supplementary Retirement Benefits Account (SRBA), Vote Netting Authority, Government Acquisition Cards and Managing the Delegation of Financial Signing Authorities were addressed. The Procure to Payment and Revenues to Receivables processes were also started in 2013-2013 and are expected to be completed in 2014-2015.

Improving organizational efficiency. As a follow-up to a departmental organizational review undertaken in 2011, FJA undertook two additional division organizational/process efficiency reviews in 2013-14. This had a direct impact on staffing; a key focus of FJA was to support affected employees and support human resources planning.

Human resources planning. The principal human resources risk facing FJA is the loss of expertise and corporate memory from the retirement of long-serving experienced staff, and the lack of in-house expertise and back up in specialized areas. FJA continued to do succession and integrated HR planning to mitigate this risk.

Staffing audit. FJA continues to implement the action plan following a staffing audit by the Public Service Commission (PSC).

Systems enhancements. FJA is part of the cluster of small departments and agencies that is making the transition from HRIS human resources information system to PeopleSoft in December 2015.

Appendix: Definitions

appropriation: Any authority of Parliament to pay money out of the Consolidated Revenue Fund.

budgetary expenditures: Include operating and capital expenditures; transfer payments to other levels of government, organizations or individuals; and payments to Crown corporations.

Departmental Performance Report: Reports on an appropriated organization's actual accomplishments against the plans, priorities and expected results set out in the corresponding Reports on Plans and Priorities. These reports are tabled in Parliament in the fall.

full-time equivalent: Is a measure of the extent to which an employee represents a full person-year charge against a departmental budget. Full-time equivalents are calculated as a ratio of assigned hours of work to scheduled hours of work. Scheduled hours of work are set out in collective agreements.

Government of Canada outcomes: A set of 16 high-level objectives defined for the government as a whole, grouped in four spending areas: economic affairs, social affairs, international affairs and government affairs.

Management, Resources and Results Structure: A comprehensive framework that consists of an organization's inventory of programs, resources, results, performance indicators and governance information. Programs and results are depicted in their hierarchical relationship to each other and to the Strategic Outcome(s) to which they contribute. The Management, Resources and Results Structure is developed from the Program Alignment Architecture.

non-budgetary expenditures: Include net outlays and receipts related to loans, investments and advances, which change the composition of the financial assets of the Government of Canada.

performance: What an organization did with its resources to achieve its results, how well those results compare to what the organization intended to achieve and how well lessons learned have been identified.

performance indicator: A qualitative or quantitative means of measuring an output or outcome, with the intention of gauging the performance of an organization, program, policy or initiative respecting expected results.

performance reporting: The process of communicating evidence-based performance information. Performance reporting supports decision making, accountability and transparency.

planned spending: For Reports on Plans and Priorities (RPPs) and Departmental Performance Reports (DPRs), planned spending refers to those amounts that receive Treasury Board approval by February 1. Therefore, planned spending may include amounts incremental to planned expenditures presented in the Main Estimates.

A department is expected to be aware of the authorities that it has sought and received. The determination of planned spending is a departmental responsibility, and departments must be able to defend the expenditure and accrual numbers presented in their RPPs and DPRs.

plans: The articulation of strategic choices, which provides information on how an organization intends to achieve its priorities and associated results. Generally a plan will explain the logic behind the strategies chosen and tend to focus on actions that lead up to the expected result.

priorities: Plans or projects that an organization has chosen to focus and report on during the planning period. Priorities represent the things that are most important or what must be done first to support the achievement of the desired Strategic Outcome(s).

program: A group of related resource inputs and activities that are managed to meet specific needs and to achieve intended results and that are treated as a budgetary unit.

results: An external consequence attributed, in part, to an organization, policy, program or initiative. Results are not within the control of a single organization, policy, program or initiative; instead they are within the area of the organization's influence.

Program Alignment Architecture: A structured inventory of an organization's programs depicting the hierarchical relationship between programs and the Strategic Outcome(s) to which they contribute.

Report on Plans and Priorities: Provides information on the plans and expected performance of appropriated organizations over a three-year period. These reports are tabled in Parliament each spring.

Strategic Outcome: A long-term and enduring benefit to Canadians that is linked to the organization's mandate, vision and core functions.

target: A measurable performance or success level that an organization, program or initiative plans to achieve within a specified time period. Targets can be either quantitative or qualitative.

whole-of-government framework: Maps the financial contributions of federal organizations receiving appropriations by aligning their Programs to a set of 16 government-wide, high-level outcome areas, grouped under four spending areas.
